LIVERPOOL HITS JUDGE MEASURE

District Legislators Indicate Bill Will Die In Committee

EAST LIVERPOOL, March 14.—The chamber of commerce today called upon the state legislature to defeat the Columbiana County Bar association's bill for creation of a second $5,960-a-year common pleas judgeship at Lisbon.

"We could not find any real need for an additional court," an investigating committee reported to the chamber's directors after conferring with attorneys and checking court operating costs.

The committee reported the maximum annual expense of visiting judges, assigned to the county in recent years, was $720 a year. Visiting judges received $15 a day. The bar recommended a domestic relations division of the court, which the investigators said, will add $8,000 to $10,000 a year to operating expenses.

"Assignment of a visiting judge, when required, over a 10-year period would cost less than the creating of an additional judgeship for one year," a member of the committee said.

State Representative John P. Stephenson of East Liverpool and State Senator Roy Merryman of Steubenville, have indicated the bill will be permitted to "die" in committee.

Motor Club Is Sole Tag Distributor

With the sale of new automobile licenses off to a slow start in Salem this year, attaches at the Columbiana County Motor club pointed out again today, for the benefit of motorists, that the auto club office is the only place in town where the tags may be purchased.

The office is situated at 749 E. State st., several doors east of the Baptist church.

Quite a number of persons, the auto club has found, have been looking for other deputy automobile registrars' offices which previously existed here.

EXPECT SENATE O.K. ON REVAMP

Lawmakers Scheduled to Ballot on Tax Group Reorganization

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, March 14.—Reorganization of the state tax commission along lines proposed by Gov. John W. Bricker was placed on the senate calendar for a vote today and speedy approval was expected. Second major revamping bill to reach the floor, the measure would abolish the present four-member commission and replace it with a single tax commissioner and three-member board of appeals.

Bricker To Fill Key Jobs Governor Bricker would be empowered to fill all the key jobs in the new setup, ousting holdover appointees from the previous Democratic administration.

Reorganization of the unemployment compensation system, first of the administration program, was completed two weeks ago.

Only minor bills were on the house calendar for the day and interest in this branch centered in the judiciary committee, which was expected to act on a labor-sponsored bill to curb authority of courts in granting injunctions affecting labor disputes.

Leaders of the Republican-controlled legislature meanwhile indicated they would renew the drive for finishing the assembly's urgent business and pave the way for adjournment at the earliest possible date.

The legislative program was discussed by Governor Bricker and leaders from both branches in a night conference that lasted until nearly midnight. The governor said no decision was reached but others attending indicated the Republican majority would seek to shut off enactment of additional laws promptly.

List Pressing Measures

Poor relief, appropriations and administration reorganization bills apparently will be the only measures pressed by the majority, with the relief program the sole bar to ending working sessions by mid-April.

The house returned to committee for amendments last night a measure which would permit municipalities to levy taxes outside the 10-mill limitation for support of city universities if approved by 65 per cent of the voters.

Sen. Leo M. Ascherman (R-Cuyahoga) was beaten in an attempt to revive a bill which virtually would prohibit the sale and use of fireworks by private individuals. The senate refused to take the measure from the commerce and labor committee which last week killed it by indefinite postponement.

The public is invited to attend the program, for which there will be no admission charge.

Numbers, which will be announced later, have been planned to permit the audience to attend part or all of the time. Children under 12 years of age must be accompanied by their parents or other adults.

RELIEF NEEDS ARE STRESSED BY ROOSEVELT

President Lists Figures In Special Message To Congress

PROBLEM HASN'T CHANGED, HE SAYS

Puts Responsibility For Carrying On WPA On Lawmakers

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, March 14.—President Roosevelt, describing the relief situation as "very serious," told the lawmakers today that responsibility for appropriating sufficient money to carry on WPA until July 1 "rests of necessity" on congress.

While not recommending a specific deficiency figure, the president in a special message asserted recent data furnished him substantiated the "real need" of his previous proposal for an additional appropriation of $150,000,000.

This was the amount cut by congress from his original January request for $875,000,000 to run WPA the last five months of the fiscal year, and which he asked to have restored in a message Feb. 7.

In his message today, Mr. Roosevelt said there had been no substantial change in conditions of unemployment since then.

"The government of the United States is faced today with a condition and not a theory," the chief executive declared. "The insufficiency of the money appropriated will compel the administrator to discharge about a million and a quarter actual workers in the immediate future."

"I cannot bring myself to believe that these discharged men and women will contribute to the prosperity of the United States, nor do I believe that the merchants and landlords they are now dealing with will become prosperous when their trade ceases."

"Therefore, the responsibility for the situation in which all of these people will find themselves during the coming three months rests of necessity within the decision of the congress of the United States."

Three Million On Relief The president said approximately 3,000,000 persons were on work relief and about 850,000 were on the "waiting" list.

He predicted a substantial pickup in employment between now and June because of improved conditions, but said it was not expected this increase would absorb more than 300,000 on WPA rolls. This would leave 3,550,000 to be cared for July 1.

The chief executive added that about 30,000 aliens had been removed from the rolls in accordance with recent law and all possible economies in administration and operations were being sought and "will be constantly checked, but here again the cold facts, which have been given insufficient emphasis, require restatement."

LONDON, PARIS TAKE NO ACTION

Point Out Guarantee Was For Aggression From Outside Sources

(By Associated Press) LONDON, March 14.—Prime Minister Chamberlain indicated in the house of commons today that the breaking up of Czechoslovakia called for no action from Great Britain.

He said that "the proposed guarantee" (of Czechoslovak frontiers) was "one against unprovoked aggression against Czechoslovakia, and no such aggression has taken place."

This was believed to represent the view of both Great Britain and France with respect to whether they should act under the Sept. 29 Munich accord giving Czechoslovakia the Sudetenland to Germany.

"France and Britain then expressed willingness to guarantee Czechoslovak frontiers after minority disputes with Poland and Hungary had been settled. The statement was not incorporated into a pact."

Two Couples, As Result, Face Bigamy Charges In Alabama

(By Associated Press) RUSSELLVILLE, Ala., March 14.—Officials said two children, two mules and 80 acres, as well as two women, were involved in a "wife-swapping" deal for which four persons today faced bigamy charges.

Five other children were affected by the marital mixup, and while one couple waited in jail the other was separated by the necessity of caring for all seven offspring.

Sheriff D. C. Nix said a Franklin grand jury would act in May on bigamy accusations against Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Odell Brand, neighbors at nearby Red Bay, Ala.

Nix said Johnson married buxom Mrs. Della Brand and Brand married Mrs. Annie Fay Johnson the same day the women, each "about 32," obtained divorce decrees that did not permit re-marriage for 60 days. The men are about 35, the sheriff said.

The four drove together in Johnson's automobile to Fulton, Miss., Nix reported, where the ceremonies were performed Feb. 24.

Police Chief L. A. Jackson of Red Bay said Annie (Johnson) Brand told him she and Brand received 80 acres and two mules from her former husband, Johnson, after the exchange of mates. Johnson and his new wife were to obtain custody of two of the five Brand children.

Johnson and his second wife were in jail, with respective bonds set at $1,500 and $1,000. Brand and his second wife were at liberty under $300 bonds.

Brand was caring for his five children (by the second Mrs. Johnson), Sheriff Nix said, while his new wife was at Johnson's home caring for the two children she bore Johnson.

PARKING METER PLAN PROPOSED

Business Bureau Recommends Action By City Council

Recommendation that city council consider the installation of parking meters in the downtown business section was voted at a meeting of the Salem Business bureau Monday following a noonday luncheon at the Lape dining room.

This action followed a report by Alroy Bloomberg for a committee which investigated parking meters in operation in several cities, some of them about the size of Salem. This committee received favorable reports from merchants and motorists alike.

At the same time the bureau recommended that council provide free parking lots within two squares of the business section. This action supports a recommendation made to council last week by the Salem Manufacturers' association.

Attorney Alfred Fitch reported that the Junior Chamber of Commerce is preparing to conduct a clean-up, paint-up, fix-up campaign to continue for two weeks, starting in April. The Business bureau voted to cooperate.

HITLER DIRECTS RUPTURE

Hungary Marches Into Ukraine; Challenges Czechs

By MELVIN K. WHITELEATHER. PRAGUE, March 14.—The Czech-Slovak federal state was formally dissolved by its government today—five and a half months after its first dismemberment at Munich—with one foreign army already invading its soil and another threatening to march in.

It collapsed after Slovakia, guided by Adolf Hitler, declared its independence. Thus ended the republic envisioned during the World War by President Woodrow Wilson and created at the Versailles peace conference.

March Into Carpathia

Hungarian troops marched through the Carpathian valleys of the country's easternmost region and the Hungarian government gave Prague until 3 p. m. tomorrow (9 a. m. in Salem) to get Czech troops out of Carpatho-Ukraine.

Germany's overwhelming army waited outside the frontiers drawn by the Munich accord for an order to enter if need be.

Fears were expressed in official circles that the republic might yet become a battleground if Hitler chooses to challenge Hungary's effort to annex Carpatho-Ukraine.

President Emil Hacha, accompanied by Foreign Minister Frantisek Svalkovsky, left by train for Berlin to confer with the German chancellor—more than ever master of central Europe.

Four Requests

Before their departure informants close to the Czech government said Hitler had made four requests of Prague:

1. That it offer no obstruction to Slovak independence; 2. That Bohemia-Moravia form a customs and monetary union with Germany; 3. Complete disarmament of Czechoslovak military forces; 4. Introduction of Germany's Nuremberg racial (anti-Jewish) laws.

It was in a 90-minute conference with Dr. Joseph Tiso, now premier of Slovakia, that Hitler last night engineered the Slovak secession and creation of the new nation.

Early in the afternoon it was denied officially that the German army had entered the country, despite some reports to the contrary. Collapse of the federal union through the Slovak declaration of independence at Bratislava—was first announced to this Czech capital at 3 p. m.

Czechs were unprepared for the magnitude of the shock, but they received the news calmly and with resignation.

Anxiety quickly spread among Jewish inhabitants and German émigrés whose first thoughts were to flee if possible. (There are about 21,000 Jews in Bohemia-Moravia.)

Hundreds of persons rushed to foreign consulates seeking visas.

How the Czechs would reorganize Bohemia and Moravia was not clear.

WHAT NEUTRALITY?

Arguing about neutrality is like arguing about altruism. It has to be assumed there is such a thing, and such an assumption can be challenged.

Straws in the wind indicate a neutrality argument will be going full blast in Washington inside of two weeks. It should shed light as well as heat.

If it were to shed light, one point would need illumination above all others. Neutrality, as a condition in international affairs, depends upon existence and observance of international law.

It presumes there are legal and illegal wars. The doctrine was developed—largely by the United States, incidentally—in connection with the growth of international law and the machinery for preserving international order.

When international law, after reaching a climax of development in the League of Nations and the World Court, collapsed with those institutions, neutrality as a guaranteed national status collapsed with it. There are no rights of neutrality today which can be enforced internationally in fact, nor even in theory.

The United States has attempted to achieve neutrality of its own making for the sake of keeping itself out of war. The motive is commendable; the execution has left much to be desired. It is plain that American neutrality is a tenuous condition—a policy which has contributed more confusion than clarification to the larger subject of American foreign policy.

The neutrality act needs to be reexamined in the light of current conditions affecting it not with a view to removing what was intended to be a safeguard against war but with a view to providing a more effective safeguard.

THOSE VITAL BALKANS

"The Munich agreement was a milestone marking the beginning, not the end, of Germany's 'march to the east.' Such developments as the friction between Slovakia and the central government of Czechoslovakia testify that plans for further control still are afoot.

The importance of these plans has been lost sight of in the welter of news from Germany's western neighbors. But it remains true that the success of the Greater Germany envisioned by Adolf Hitler hinges on the ability of the Nazi organization to control the territory from Germany's eastern frontier to the Black sea.

Meager reports have indicated the spread of Nazi doctrine is running into opposition. Even Austria has been a disappointment. Opposition has flared up in Rumania, Hungary, Poland and Czechoslovakia. If, as seems likely, the strategy in Czechoslovakia is to separate Slovakia from the federated Czechoslovak state, the government at Prague has thrown a wrench into the gears by deposing a Slovak premier who favored autonomy.

Central Europe always has been a muddled picture for Americans, unable to comprehend the racial animosities which embitter its people. But they can understand that the possibilities of European war today, as in the years before 1914, hinge on the outcome of the struggle to control the Balkans—a struggle in which Germany again is deeply involved.

YOU AND WHAT ARMY?

A body of men organized and armed for combat is an army. As time goes on it's agreed the important thing about that famous German-American bund meeting in Madison Square Garden was the way the metropolitan police took complete charge.

They were facing an army—an organized, uniformed body of men armed, not with guns, which would have been too raw, but with flashlights, which may serve the dual purpose of lighting the way and clearing it at close range.

Rep. Voorhis, the new liberal member of the Dies committee, thinks he can frustrate the formation of such "armies." His idea's simplicity itself. Make their generals take out a license, which could be revoked at congressional pleasure. Put them on their good behavior. Refuse to issue licenses to any "army" organized for the purpose of denying constitutional rights to any group or class of citizens.

There are some interesting possibilities in the proposal, not only for "bundes," but other outfits anxiously marking time till they can take over the country to run it their way.

THE "COMMUNISTS" DISAGREE

Censored dispatches, propaganda, and general confusion have made Spain the most perilous topic of the day, next to whether Franklin D. Roosevelt wants to live in the White House after Jan. 20, 1941.

Recent circumstantial evidence indicates dissension in Madrid. Gen. Franco's troops, waiting for the city to fall into their hands, have heard firing in enemy territory, they report.

It is said that Premier Juan Negrin's government was overthrown and he has fled to France; also that Gen. Jose Miaja is at the head of a provisional government, apparently with the aim of making an "honorable" peace with Gen. Franco.

It is reasonably certain, in short, that the loyalists remaining in Madrid have not been of one mind. Apparently "Communists," whatever the word means in Spain, have had a difference of opinion with "republicans," whatever that word means.

The point is that the loyalist regime probably never was completely communistic any more than the Franco side was completely fascist. These were nothing but vague adjectives, more useful for purposes of creating prejudice than for explaining the issues in the Spanish war.

A LENTEN THOUGHT

By S. TALMAGE MAGANN, President, Salem Ministerial Association.

ENCOURAGING COMPANY

Read Luke 18:9-14. A man had been rabbit hunting with his friend for about two hours. In this time they had missed several good shots and felt rather discouraged with themselves as hunters.

At this time they met more hunters and eagerly inquired about their luck. Both found great comfort in the discovery that the others had also failed to get anything.

We have often heard the statement that "misery loves company" and human experience reveals that this may be a very dangerous fact of life. It tempts us to justify our unnecessary failures on the grounds that others have also failed. The comfort of these comparisons may also lead to a false sense of self-exaltation: in contrasting our good qualities with those of others less fortunate.

Our scripture today points to the fallacy of self-glory in emphasizing one's good qualities. A consciousness of personal sin and failure encourages one in humility and reveals the need for God's mercy, forgiveness and guidance.

Prayer: Lead us, our Father, to examine ourselves in the light of thy eternal truth. It will reveal to us our personal sins and failures; then we can see more clearly our need for Thy Grace and forgiveness through Christ. Amen.

Blood Pressure Increase Discussed by Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

INCREASE in blood pressure is considered merely a symptom and not a disease. Sometimes the term "essential high blood pressure" is used to designate cases in which no cause for the high pressure is evident, but this is merely a compromise with our ignorance.

Of all the causes which have been mentioned, change in the kidney is the one most reasonable and easy to prove. It is a common thing for the kidney to contract as age advances, and the shutting off of the kidney blood vessels alone is enough to raise pressure. The process is long, gradual and painless, and need cause no immediate alarm.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Other Factors But there are other factors. Research has shown that when there is an interference with the kidney circulation, certain chemicals are formed which, being absorbed, cause the blood vessels all over the body to contract and thus raise blood pressure.

Here we have stated the two possible ways in which blood pressure is raised—one mechanical, the other chemical, by some substance circulating in the body which affects the tension of the circulation.

Among such substances are the secretions of the ductless glands. The automatic nervous system has control over the constriction or expansion of the size of the blood vessel and it, in turn, is controlled by the ductless glands.

It is a common finding in enlargement of the thyroid gland that a rise in blood pressure occurs.

Adrenal Glands Even more intimately associated with blood pressure are two others of the ductless glands—the adrenals. The substance which these glands secrete, adrenalin, will immediately raise blood pressure when injected into the body. If we may assume a condition in which an extra amount of adrenalin is constantly secreted, we have a perfect condition for the production of chronic high blood pressure.

More and more frequent of late, removal of the adrenal glands has been performed to relieve high blood pressure and with considerable degrees of success.

The relation of other glands to high blood pressure has often been suggested. When all the glands stop functioning, as in the menopause, there is no question of the effect on blood pressure. Enough of these relationships have been pointed out to make the point that high blood pressure is not a single entity

C. "What are the symptoms of adenoids? Can they cause one to be thin?"

Answer: Adenoids cause mouth breathing, frequent colds and sore throat. There is a general debility of health and, therefore, they could cause one to be thin.

KIT CARSON—Avenger!

by EVELYN WELLS

CHAPTER I

The boy in the deep sunbaked doorway was small but strongly shined, with tawny hair that waved to his shoulders, a wide mouth that could be cruel as a trap and soft as a girl's, and eyes an incredibly honest blue. It was Kit's eyes that caught and held one, so that any man looking once would exclaim as Fremont the Pathfinder did later:

"Kit Carson and truth are one!" At nineteen, the boy who would become the "Greatest of Western Scouts" was too manly to show wistfulness. But blood throbbed in his heart as he watched the forty buckskin-clad mountaineers preparing for a mysterious trail. They were lashing packs, testing saddles, etc., on the Plaza before the adobe house of Ewing Young in the gray flat-roofed pueblo of ancient Fernandez de Taos in New Mexico.

Captain Ewing Young came toward the casa with a broad Mexican saddle slung over one brawny shoulder. He smiled, noticing the glance of the lad who for the winter past had been his cook.

"You'd like to go, Kit?" He was startled by the answering look of the boy.

"I was reckoning on asking, Cap'n."

The captain of trappers chuckled. His glance traveled over the boy's figure in woolen shirt and buckskin trousers. His leathery face was kind.

"No need of bread and venison stew where we'll travel. Riding for Indian vengeance we'll want no cook."

The boy flushed angrily. Kit Carson was not a cook by choice.

In the Spanish he had mastered in Taos, in the many Indian dialects he would learn, Kit would be fluent. Given to soft speech in three languages would be this lad with the glance of flaming blue. Now he struggled for words in his honest indignation.

"I want asking to cook. As trapper..."

"Silence!" snapped the older man. He glanced hastily over his buckskin-clad shoulder. No one had heard. The blanketed Indians drowsed in the Plaza, as terrored Taos under its sacred mountain drowsed in the sun. A few dreamy-eyed señoritas hurried homeward from the old adobe church and trading post of Don Antonio Robidoux for it was nearing siesta hour. And coming closer Young said in a low voice:

"Why talk of trapping? You know fur is contraband to us Americans in the West, under Mexican law. We're going out for vengeance. Some of my men were chased back into Taos two weeks ago by hostile Apaches—it's them we're after, gun and knife 'gainst arrow and tomahawk. If an Injun molests a white man, his whole tribe must pay. You know that—it's western law."

"Age, the law of the West," answered the boy tersely, "but Dan'l Boone said I'd the sharpest eyes on the Kentucky frontier, and I see beaver traps in the packs you'll carry tomorrow out of Taos!"

Young started. He questioned himself rapidly. What did he know of Kit Carson? The lad had drifted into Taos three years before, in the spring time of 1826 over the dangerous Santa Fe trail.

With a price on his head, the 16-year-old Kit fled astride a mule to the wide, vacant, savage West.

But there was little mystery to Kit. His Scotch-Irish family emigrated to America in the mid-1700's. His father, a noted Indian fighter, one of whose hands had been shot away by Indians, had served as a dispatch carrier in the Revolution.

Kit had been born in Madison County, Kentucky, at the extreme Indian frontier, on Christmas Eve, 1809. The first nine years of his life were spent in the perilous shadow of the Fort Hempstead stockade. As a child he had mounded bullets during Indian attacks. He had seen relatives and neighbors killed and scalped by savages. He had met that awesome, bearded patriarch of the frontier, Daniel Boone.

Apprenticed by his mother to a saddler, Kit ran away. One Missouri newspaper carried the notice: "Christopher Carson, a boy about sixteen years old, small for his age, but thick-set, light hair, ran away from the subscriber.... all persons are notified not to harbor, support, or subvert said boy under penalty of the law."

With a price on his head, Kit turned to the wide, vacant, savage West. He rode a mule beside the heavy Conestoga wagons, drawn by oxen, that drove four abreast for safety against Indians, over terrifying trails between St. Louis and Santa Fe, Taos and Chihuahua in Old Mexico.

But he would live to ride from the Rockies to Washington, D. C., by steam train! He would live, to and treacherous Blackfeet, Sioux and dread Apache—he would fight them all. He would be famous as the conqueror of the Navajo.

He would fight Indian and Mexican and win the respect of both races. He would creep between enemy lines to the rescue of Karmy's army in California. As "The Avenger" he would ride against redskin savages who had killed white men, to rescue American women from unspeakable destiny at Indian hands.

He would rise from scout to general in the Civil War. His friends would be Sutter and Robidoux, Benton and Fremont, Kearny and Sherman—men whose names are woven into the fabric of the West.

And he would love deeply and more than once, for behind that glance of incredibly honest blue there was softness and flame in Kit Carson. He would fight a duel on horseback over the shy maid Alice. He would defy the authorities of Mexican California for one last glimpse of the girl Teresita.

Kit Carson! Red hearts and white would beat faster at that name!

Now he was a freckled-faced stripling standing pleadingly before the trapper captain, hearing Young's questioning:

"I know you've seen Injun fighting, Kit. But what do you know of hunting?"

"All there is to know. I've hunted buffalo with the Sioux every year since I was twelve."

"But beaver...." said Young, craftily.

"I know of beaver, too. Habits and house building and dam making. I know how to lay all scent by stalking through water, and how to splice and set the traps above water line and bait with essence."

"There!" interrupted the trapper captain. "What essence?"

Kit's wide mouth grew wider in a delightful grin. Beaver essence was made by a secret formula handed down from trapper to trapper. And Kit had the secret from an old Missouri trapper.

"If I tell you the essence rightly, can I go with you, Cap'n Young?" The kind face under the broad beaver had reassured the boy. Kit leaned forward and whispered the secret process of the essence—the scent of beaver mixed with the juices of roots and bark in careful proportions. He who had no pack nor trap nor horse of his own, triumphantly whispered his secret to a man he knew had it already, knowing it would win him a place in the buckskinned cavalcade preparing before Young's door.

Young lifted his head again. "You can ride with us, Kit Carson. I'll advance you enough for baggage and traps. For it's true, we're heading after beaver, as far as California."

"California!" Kit's glance sparkled. "Why, only three white men have entered California from this side; Smith and the two Patties. And old man Pattie died from the brutal ways of the Mexicans."

"We'll risk the California Mex and their ways," said Young grimly. "It's beaver we're after, and we ask no man's permission for fur. It's God's gift to white and red skin alike and if the pelts lead to California, there we go."

"But we must be cautious. Last year I had a license and the Mexican governor at Santa Fe confiscated $20,000 worth of fur. This year I go without a license, so first we hunt Apaches to hide our trapping and to get revenge. Have you a rifle, son?"

Theatre Attractions

Bobby Breen and Leo Carrillo in a scene from "Fisherman's Wharf," which shows Wednesday only at the State theater.

Bobby Breen's new picture, "Fisherman's Wharf," is the featured attraction at the State Wednesday only, following tonight's concluding picture, "Gunga Din," which stars Victor McLaglen, Cary Grant, Douglas Fairbanks Jr., and Sam Jaffe.

A simple, human story, artistically told; songs steeped in the rich romance of the Mediterranean atmosphere to be found in San Francisco bay, and a locale that for beauty and uniqueness has seldom before been equaled, combine to lift "Fisherman's Wharf" to a position among the better pictures of the current season.

Father, Son Story. Basically, the story is a father-son tale—a simple theme which pictures the great love of the widowed Leo Carrillo for his adopted son, Bobby Breen. Carrillo falls in love with Lee Patrick, and the parent-son angle is momentarily stifled. However, in a glorious scene at the end, with the father and son alone in their boat, far out to sea, their misunderstandings are straightened out, and they are reunited.

In spite of the dramatic element to the plot, "Fisherman's Wharf" is laden with grand, human comedy. Leo Carrillo, Henry Armetta, Rosina Galli and Slicker the famous acting seal combine to deliver hilarious humor.

Music In Film. Musically, the film is of superior type. However, the singing and music are so effectively submerged that they do not interfere with the plot.

Bobby sings six songs in all—ranging from the more modern "Sell Your Cares for a Song," to the time-mellowed "Santa Lucia" and "Return to Sorrento."

The locale of "Fisherman's Wharf" is San Francisco's famous bay country and the city itself. In addition to the colorful waterfront scenes, the film, in plot form, gives one a miniature Cook's tour of the western metropolis. Pictured on the screen are many famous landmarks.

Showing at the Grand Wednesday only is a double bill: "Pardon Our Nerve," featuring Lynn Bari, June Gale and Michael Whalen, and musical comedy, "Smiling Along" with the great English comedienne Gracie Fields, in the leading role.

Correct Constipation Before—Not After!

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of emergency relief. Why let yourself suffer those dull lifeless days because of constipation, why bring on the need for emergency medicines, when there may be a far better way? That way is to KEEP regular by getting at the cause of the trouble.

If it's common constipation, due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, a pleasant, nutritious, ready-to-eat cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran—goes straight to the cause by supplying the "bulk" you need.

Eat this crunchy toasted cereal every day—with milk or cream, or baked into muffins—drink plenty of water, and see if you don't forget all about constipation. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

Then here's good news for you in case you need a good general system tonic—just take famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Let its wholesome herbs and roots help Nature build up more physical resistance and tone up your system, so that it can more easily throw off the "blues" and get more energy to enjoy life.

MILLIONS of women have depended on this Compound and have passed the word along to friends and neighbors, and to their children. Why not take Pinkham's Compound and go "smiling thru"?

Baptists, Methodists Clash For Class B Round Robin Honors

SURVIVE PLAY AS TWO OTHERS ARE ELIMINATED

Trades Class and Carroll Cadets Are Dropped In League Tilts

The Trades Class and Carroll Cadets were dropped from the Class B basketball league's round robin tournament at the Memorial building last night.

The Tradesmen suffered their second defeat of the tournament at the hands of the Methodists "A", 39-37. Lawrence Weigand led the M. E. five to victory, scoring five field goals and two free throws to tally 12 points.

Fryfogel, with 11 points, and Cameron, with 10, paced the losers. Cameron turned in a nice bit of defensive work, as he held Frank Theriault, the league's leading scorer, to one field goal and two free throws.

The Carroll Cadets were also dropped from tournament competition as they were downed by the league leading Baptists, 29-24.

Vickers and R. Snyder paced the unbeaten Baptists to victory with seven points each. Mike Guappone was the big gun for the Cadets, getting the hoop for five field goals and one free throw to chalk up 11 points.

The Methodists and Baptists are the only two teams remaining in the tournament. The M. E. five has lost one game and so must beat the undefeated Baptists twice in order to capture the title.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Various Spots

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, March 14—Scoop-ers: Insiders say Lloyd Jordan, Amherst athletic director, is the fair-haired boy at Pitt and can have Doc Sutherland's old job for the asking. But Lawrence Skiddy, sports editor of the Syracuse Herald, says it's 10 to 1 Jordan won't telegraph, or even write.

Fred Perry's tennis may pick up if and when that reconciliation with Helen Vinson becomes official. Commissioner Bill Brown will yell "no" until he is hoarse, but wait and see if Commissioners John J. Fiehan and D. Walker wear don't vote Louis and Galento right into the Yankee stadium today.

There'll be no baseball at the U. of New Mexico this spring for three good and sufficient reasons: (a) lack of a field; (b) lack of games; (c) lack of equipment. The Yanks may be interested in wires from Lakeland that although Rudy York is hopeless as a catcher or outfielder, he can play first base.

The wise boys are giving Minnesota, Michigan, Northwestern and Ohio State the call for top spots in the Big Ten football league this fall. That eye injury of Billy Conn's ain't threatening to become permanent, is it?

Half time score in Texas Christianise opening spring football practice was: Influenza, 12; operations, 3; practice injuries, 2. Give Jack Roper credit for a new one—He's climbing mountains to build up his chin for Joe Louis.

The New York football Giants' basketball team, which won 17 in a row, has been challenged by a team composed of Green Bay Packers stars. Keith Quick's "Marvelous Mildred," same being a life story of Babe Dridickson, has been sold to a national magazine and later will be published in book form.

Five stalwarts who compose the Simmons No. 1 team from Ellensburg are riding the crest in the team event with a 2,876 total.

The Court Belmonte No. 1 team of the Independent Order of Foresters, Buffalo, N. Y., hit the groove for a total of 2,775 last night to take fourth place.

Roland Clagett of Newark, O., is tied for fourth place in the singles with Edward Bachtrup of Norwood, O., with 661.

Red pitchers held the Dodgers hitless. Some of the comment on the "hitter" New York Mirror—"This has got to stop." Post—"Dodgers already in mid-season form." Flatbush Fans—"Dem bums!"

Robris Dundee, who manages Norment Quarles, the fighter-lawyer, has added George Abrams, the fighting-cartoonist, to his stable. The strong silent guy in the Boston Bee camp is a rook named Carvel Rowell. So far he's only said "yes" and "no," but never both on the same day.

Tony Galento is being polished up for a personal appearance tour of eastern theaters. Tarzan Taylor, line coach at Marquette, needs only three more months of study before being ordained a Methodist minister. U. of New Mexico is dickering with Ray Morrison, Vanderbilt coach, to head its football school this summer.

Training Camp Briefs

NEW ORLEANS, March 14.—Strong trade winds howled around the wigwam of the Cleveland Indians here today.

Most of the gusts blew in the name of Earl Averill, holdout center fielder, who still is at his home in Washington.

Tribal chiefs held council on the latest offer for the slugging outfielder. It came from Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, who seeks to swap Bill Werber, veteran third baseman, in an even trade for the Earl.

C. C. Slapnicka, vice president, admitted the Indians would like Werber but thought a straight swap would give the A's the best of it. He indicated he still hoped to deal with the St. Louis Browns for Don Heffner, second baseman, or Red Kress, shortstop.

One of the big worries of the Cleveland camp was ended when Johnny Allen tested his $20,000 right arm for the first time since a winter elbow operation and said it "felt fine."

If the Indians don't have a good season, it won't be because of dental troubles. Club officials ordered a checkup for all. A dentist found 10 players needed "repairs." The club ordered the doctor to proceed.

Manager Oscar Vitt continues to hold in high regard Lou Boudreau, former University of Illinois athlete, who has sparked in the infield since reporting. With Ken Keltner a fixture at third base, Boudreau's college post. Vitt plans to farm out the Illinois boy with instructions that he play shortstop.

First Baseman Hal Trosky has reported, the last of the regulars now signed to reach camp.

Besides Averill, three others remain on the holdout list—pitchers Willis Hudlin and Johnny Broaca.

Kelley Polishes Up Plans For Little City Tournament

Fifth Annual Scheduled March 24 and 25; Entries Limited to Cities of 10,000 or Under

The fifth annual Little City invitational basketball tournament, sponsored by the Memorial building, will be held on March 24 and 25. The tournament entries are restricted to cities of 10,000 population and under.

Joe Kelley, tournament manager, hopes for about 20 entries this year. Last year 18 teams participated in the two-day affair.

Anyone from a town under 10,000 population may enter a team. There is no restriction as to the age of the players.

Fifty gold and silver trophies will be awarded, including individual awards. During the four years the tournament has been in operation two Salem teams have captured the championship. Sheen's Service Station won in 1936 and Shastem's Enclair Service Station won last year. Irondale and Hubbard were the title holders in 1935 and 1937, respectively.

Kelley promises a lot of good basketball for this year's tourney. Last year three or four All-Ohio collegiate players and several Akron Goodyear players participated.

All pairings will be made by drawing, and no team will be seeded. The entries will close at midnight, March 22, and all officials will be registered Ohio referees.

This tourney, according to Kelley, is the only one of its kind in Ohio. It will consist of about six games on Friday and 10 or 12 games on Saturday, according to the number of teams entered.

Entry blanks and rules may be obtained from Kelley at the Memorial building.

Alliance Man Is Appointed To Guide Airways Traffic In Chicago District

ALLIANCE, March. — William Pluchel, son of Mrs. Charles Pluchel, of Alliance, has been named district manager in charge of traffic and sales of the Transcontinental and Western Air Service at Chicago, Ill.

His district includes Chicago as well as the northern half of Illinois and Indiana. He has been with the TWA for three years, having previously had charge of air express in the Chicago area.

Prior to joining the TWA service he had charge of General Air Express, a group of seven major airlines handling air express on a coast to coast hookup.

While attending Alliance High School, Pluchel was a classmate of Paul Furcolow and Ralph Manchester, both of whom are also actively engaged in the aviation industry. Furcolow is with the Goodyear blimp service and Manchester is affiliated with Penn Central Airlines at Pittsburgh, Pa.

After his graduation from Alliance High school, Pluchel attended Notre Dame university and planned to become a pharmacist.

"Every customer has a problem to be worked out," he says in commenting about his employment.

"There is nothing more interesting than meeting lots of people, studying their characters and solving their transportation problems, which is of course the big thing of the moment. And as things are picking up now, I see more people each day and the job becomes more interesting," he adds.

One of his biggest problems was a "passenger" in the form of $500,000 in currency and silver shipped by plane to Louisville, Ky., during the flood two years ago. There were five guards on the special chartered plane.

Regional Advisory Board Ready For Pittsburgh Rally

The forecast of rail carloadings for the second quarter of 1939 will be released on Thursday, March 16, by the Allegheny Regional Advisory board at its 12th annual and 40th regular meeting, which will be held at the William Penn hotel, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Fairman R. Dick, well known investment banker of Dick & Merle-Smith New York, will address the luncheon on the subject of "Peanuts, Bananas and Railroads, or The Injustice of the Multiplication Table."

The meeting, which is open to the public and to all users of transportation, will be attended by approximately 300 representatives of industry, banking, agriculture and mining from western Pennsylvania, eastern Ohio, northern West Virginia, and the panhandle of Maryland.

There will be an open forum discussion of current national legislative proposals participated in by J. V. McMahon, Youngstown Chamber of Commerce, T. R. Langan, T. M. Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co., W. B. Shepherd, A. G. T. M. Aluminum company, and Charles Donley, traffic counselor, Pittsburgh, Pa.

An innovation in the meeting will be the showing of a film on impact test experiments with carload freight blocked and braced for shipment in closed cars. These tests were conducted by the freight container bureau and the Pennsylvania railroad in cooperation with a large industry in the territory to determine the better method of bracing and stowing freight and the relative damage done by impact shocks at varying speeds.

National transportation conditions will be summarized by W. J. McGarry, manager, car service division, A. A. R., and C. R. Megee, district manager, will review the activity in the board territory.

There will be an election of officers for the ensuing year.

Rabbit Trouble

PALESTINE, Texas—The subject of rabbits is a sore one with John Boyd, 14.

Last year he chased a rabbit into a hollow log. When he reached in to get it a rattlesnake bit him.

Now he is shy a toe because he rested the barrel of his shotgun on his foot, thinking the safety catch was on. It wasn't.

Lisbon Woman, 97, Observes Birthday

LISBON, March 14.—Mrs. Helen M. Glenn, Lisbon's oldest resident, celebrated her 97th birthday Monday at her home on East Lincoln way.

Mrs. Glenn was born in Madison township. She is a member of the First Presbyterian church and although ill health has curtailed the active part she once took in church affairs, she is still interested in its activities.

She makes her home with two daughters, Misses Alice and Gertrude Glenn.

It Happens Once

MIAMI, Fla.—When Joseph M. Stein Kirchner of Newton, Kas., mailed subscription money to the Miami Herald he included an extra dollar and asked that it be bet for him on "Deadeye Dick" in the dog races.

Believing the new subscriber had a hot tip, four circulation department employees chipped in 50 cents each to put up with the bet.

"Deadeye Dick" won and paid $17.20 in the mutuels.

Tax Penalty

KANSAS CITY—Income tax worries cost Peter Larkin $10.

He was arrested at an early morning hour by officers who said he was serving beer at his tavern after closing time. Larkin said the men were friends who were helping him with his income tax return.

Sound Sleeper

LOGANSPORT, Ind. — A brick building collapsed here while Paul R. Rea, 55, was asleep in it.

Police, searching the ruins for his body, found the man surrounded by fallen timbers and bricks but unharmed—and still sleeping.

NAMPA, Ida. — Manager W. G. Brown of a store thinks it is unethical for burglars to "peep." His store does not have a safe so at the close of each day he counts the receipts, puts the money in a bag and hides it behind a can of beans or under a sack of flour.

Recently he hid it in the waste paper basket but the next morning it was not there.

PHILADELPHIA—The total of marriage licenses issued in Philadelphia during 1938 was the lowest since 1933. During the year, 12,885 permits were issued, compared with 14,103 in 1937; 13,388 in 1936; 13,635 in 1935, and 13,671 in 1934.

The Pipe "Thawed"

LANCASTER, O., March 14.—Four Ohio Fuel Gas Co. repairmen were recovering today from injuries suffered in an explosion which resulted when they applied blow torches to a gas line in an effort to thaw out moisture gathered in the pipe. The injured workmen were thrown 40 feet.

Fire Kills Mother And Son In Cottage

HUDSON, March 14.—A mother and her small son were dead today and her husband was burned critically as a result of a fire which destroyed their home a mile north of here last night.

The dead are Mrs. Madeline Pick, 28, and her son, Rennie, 24. Richard Pick, 30, the husband and father, suffered third degree burns in an attempt to rescue his wife from an upstairs room.

Only one member of the family—Richard Pick, Jr., 12, who discovered the fire—escaped with only slight burns. The boy awoke his parents, and Pick, Sr., ran from the house with his young son. When he found his wife had not followed, he returned but collapsed before he reached her.

A passing truck driver, Benjamin Black, 27, of Canton, carried out both Pick and his wife, and took all members of the family to the Bedford hospital. Mrs. Pick was pronounced dead on arrival, and the small son died early today.

The destroyed home, a four-room cottage just completed, had been built by Pick and his father.
